A Message From the Pastor

Sometimes a new or different perspective may be called for. Day to day living can cause us to make routines. Routines can be beneficial and good, but they can also leave us stuck doing the same thing over again, or even cause us to miss seeing something new that can be as valuable as “the way we have always done things”.

That is just what the session has tried to do the last two years, by having their elder training events outside of the walls of the church building. Last month, four of our elders attended an Elder Training Event at Camp Gilmont. Retired Stated Clerk of PC(USA), Gradye Parsons, lead the retreat.

Rev. Parsons gave the pastors and ruling elders at the retreat space to reflect on the church and its mission in a little different way. He asked us to think of each person in the church, to imagine where they sit on Sunday morning, and then think of the spiritual assets each individual gives to the church. He mentioned assets such as “spiritual insight; encouragement; practical help; life wisdom; and simply being an example—of someone who has overcome struggles to keep the faith; someone who makes your burdens seem lighter, or who nurtures children or mentors teens, or who cares for older people.”

So that is just what these four elders and I did. We ended up with a large list of assets this church has, even though we didn't have time to “assess” everyone or consider such things as physical resources (our time, our money, our beautiful building and its contents).

FPC PW Moderator

PW Circle Meeting

PW Circle will meet on Monday, Feb. 13, at 10 a.m. for Bible study and a brief business meeting.

The leader for the lesson, a view of Jesus as presented in the Book of Hebrews, is Helon Razniak. Early on, this book was thought to have been written by Paul. However, it became clear by the second century that the style, vocabulary and theology reflected in this book was vastly unlike what is found in Paul's letters. To learn more about Hebrews, you are invited to join us to hear Helon's lesson. Guests are welcome.

Mission Focus

●PW members met on Monday, Jan. 30, to trace and cut out fleece for baby caps. Every two months 100 caps made by our members are taken to the newborn nursery at Hunt Regional Medical Center.

More than 100 caps were traced, cut out and pinned together in less than an hour at Monday's meeting by seven members. The "stitchers" will have almost 4 weeks to complete them in order to meet the March 1st deadline.

A big thank you goes to all those who help with this mission endeavor.

●In early December of 2016, Beverly Housewright and Nila McQuary spent time recycling old Christmas cards. The fronts of the cards were "re-purposed" and placed on new paper.

After the cards were completed, they were taken to Country Home Estates and Oak Manor and delivered to residents there. Thanks Beverly and Nila for doing this project each year.

Beverly Housewright and Nila McQuary show off some of their beautiful "re-purposed" Christmas cards.

Completing PW History for 2016

We would like to recognize Bettina Zvanut for her dedicated and time-consuming work in completing our annual history report, which is turned in by the end of January. She has served as historian for several years. We all thank you, Bettina.

Upcoming Book Share

A reminder—on Friday, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m., all ladies of FPC are cordially invited to attend a "Book Share" at the home of Toni Deaton.

Each person will have an opportunity to share information about a book that she has read and enjoyed.

Guests are welcome. Please RSVP to Toni so she will know how many to expect.

Prestigious Opera Program Accepts Micah

First Presbyterian worship service attendees on Jan. 29 got an expected, and very nice, announcement from Micah Krajca, a TAMU-C student who is in his third year of singing in our choir. He has been accepted into a very prestigious summer program for young artists called The College Light Opera Company in Falmouth, Massachusetts, on beautiful Cape Cod.

Founded in 1969, CLOC strives to provide high-quality musicals and operettas to summer audiences on Cape Cod, while at the same time giving young talent from around the world a chance to begin a career in music theatre. This independent, not-for-profit, educational theatre provides a community where young artists have the opportunity to practice and perfect their art in a supportive and nurturing environment.

Micah said he came across The College Light Opera Company on-line using an app. He applied and was accepted, which is an honor because CLOC's company is selected annually from applicants across the country and around the world. A description of the company taken from its website, says it consists of "32 talented singers, an 18-piece orchestra, 12 dedicated technicians, two box office representatives, two accompanists, two associate conductors, a choreographer, a stage manager, a cop work director, a chef, a business manager, a marketing director and a bullpen of professional directors and conductors."

Each member will spend the summer working in a professional atmosphere free of other academic responsibilities—with the goal of refining their craft.

"I was attracted to this company because I longed for an opportunity to practice and perfect my art in a supportive and nurturing environment," Micah said. "I am incredibly excited, but I can also say that I am equally as nervous."

It will be a big challenge, in part that is because of the rigor of the schedule, but also in part because Micah said this will be "the first time that I will be in a place where I will not have any friends or family beside me."

"I decided to take on this challenge to prove to myself that I am capable," he said.

Everyone who knows him at FPC can certainly predict only success for him.

His summer in Maine—from June 9 until Aug. 27—will certainly be almost non-stop.

"We will perform nine operettas/musicals, Micah explained. "When we get there we will receive an audition binder for the summer. The first audition will be on June 14 for the first three shows of the season. The rest of the auditions will occur throughout the summer.

"We will be coached before each audition. This will be quite the learning process since I am more familiar with the education world. These shows include The Zoo and Trial By Jury, Patience, Anything Goes, Cabaret, Grand Hotel, My Fair Lady, Pippin, and The Desert Song."

Micah provided a glimpse of what he will be doing. As part of weekly rehearsals, he will receive vocal and dance training each week. While one show is being performed, the following week's show is being rehearsed during the day. His average day will begin at 10 a.m. with a break for lunch at 12:30 and then continues from 2-5:30 p.m.--with a performance in the evening. There are five evening performances, Tuesday through Saturday, and a matinee performance on Thursday. A technical rehearsal takes place on Sunday evening and a dress rehearsal on Monday evening."

Performances are in the historic Highfield Theatre in Falmouth, and are frequently sold out.

"We will be staying in an old resort complex in West Falmouth and it is about four miles from the theatre," he said. "Meals will be served in the dining room. In addition to the shows, we will have small work assignments to help with the food and cleaning process."

Education Committee, which is chaired by Walt Davis.

Organizations, schools, businesses and community support groups were listed on the board and names of people who volunteer with these groups were added to the board. The display will remain in the Fellowship Hall for the next several weeks. You are invited to add your name to the list of those volunteers already posted. Extra “petals” and pens are available for your use.

Take a look and see what the members of FPC are doing in our community!

Another “intergenerational” Sunday school day is planned for the next “5th” Sunday and plans will be announced soon.

FPC’s Mission Outreach Revealed

On Sunday, Jan. 28, during the Sunday school hour an intergenerational class was held instead of our normal Sunday School classes. Participants enjoyed an interactive time together while creating a bulletin board highlighting some of the mission outreach accomplished by members of FPC.

Community News and Events

Community Garden, Food Education Proposal

The Commerce Community Action Program, TAMU-C, CISD, area churches, and a variety of social services hope to sponsor an Agri-Life/Lifestyle-changing program during the spring, summer, and early fall of 2017.

The program, if implemented fully, would consist of the following:

♦Assignment of a community garden activity and/or plot.

♦The care, nurturement, and harvest of crops.

♦Lessons in safe canning, freezing, dry food preparation for storage.

♦Food preparation, cooking, and service advice from trained providers and chefs.

The goal is to teach self-sufficiency in an enjoyable way that will include family and/or friends in meaningful lifestyle changes for healthy living.

If you are interested and would like to join in this effort to make Commerce a healthier place to live, call Dr. Bob Johnson at 903-468-2659 for additional

GriefShare Returns Feb. 6

GriefShare, hosted by First Baptist Church of Commerce will begin its spring semester on Monday, Feb. 6,

The Commerce group will meet every Monday night, beginning Feb. 6, in the church parlor from 6 to 8 p.m. for thirteen weeks.

Books are provided free of charge to participants in our local group. For more information, contact Jim or Teena Ayres at 903-886-8600 or 214-729-7525. More information and resources are also provided at www.GriefShare.org.

Other February Community Events

- 4 Saturday, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.—Recycle Day
University Parking Lot, Campbell and Walnut
- 11 Saturday, 6:30 p.m.—Hearts for the Arts
Banquet, Emerald Ballroom, Greenville. This event raises funds and allows artists like FPC's David Zvanut to bring to the public their art.

Don't Forget Food Pantry Items

The Commerce Food Pantry serves many families in need each week. Donations are a major source of its ability to help these people. Remember to help out the food pantry with a donation of food each Sunday.

1st Sunday—Peanut butter

2nd Sunday—Bag of pinto beans and/or rice

3rd Sunday—Can of chili or beef stew

4th Sunday—Can of tuna, spam, or chicken

No reservation is required to attend the Feb. 25 worship service or the second presentation that day.

Don't forget! To send us your news or pictures for the The Good News as soon as possible. Also, let us know what is coming.

A Message From the Pastor

I'm pretty sure I can speak for all of us that we left that retreat energized, and uplifted about the mission and direction of FPC and confident that we have resources to get there.

It happened, in large part, because we were given the opportunity to leave our everyday surroundings and see things from a different perspective.

Are you feeling "stuck" lately? Maybe giving yourself a different perspective to think things through, such as going somewhere new, or some place you haven't been to in a while, might be just what you need.

Grace and peace be with you all,
Rev. Krista Rasco, pastor

Speaking in the vernacular of a performer, he said, "This is not a paid gig. I am responsible for all travel expenses, but once I get there everything should be taken care of.

"I could not pass up such a wonderful learning opportunity. I hope that it will give me a little taste how my life could be as a performer."

Hopefully, Micah will keep in touch, and maybe even send in a report and picture now and then for The Good News to relay to its readers. We all wish Micah the best in what may well be the summer of a lifetime and perhaps the start of a career in theatre.

If you would like to write, send cookies, or whatever, to Micah once he is there, the address is:

Following surgery and several days of recovery in the hospital, FPC’s Odeana Stewart is back home. She had undergone a lengthy surgery to remove a spot on her lung.

Did We Forget Something?

Maybe we forgot an event you are organizing for FPC or a committee report you wanted to get in The Good News. Whatever it is, let us know. If you forgot, remember to remember next time!
